Report on International Translation Day

As a part of classroom activity, the Department of English celebrated International Translation Day on September 30, 2023. The day traces its origins to St. Jerome, known as the 'Father of Translation,' and has been celebrated since 1953. Every year on September 30, the world observes International Translation Day in honour of Saint Jerome, the Bible translator. So we celebrate it with the theme for International Translation Day 2023, ‘Translation unveils the many faces of humanity’. This theme underscores the power of translation to reveal the rich tapestry of human diversity and the multitude of stories, ideas, and cultures that make up our global community. The programme was initiated by Mrs. K. Annapurany, Assistant Professor of English. The students of M. Anisa (III BA English), P. Susheela (III BA English), and G.Sachuda (I BA English) shared their views about the purpose of translation day. The students of A. Maria Jenizius Vinu (II BA English), R. Arthi (III B.A. English), and K. Basharath Afrin (III B.A. English) participated and expressed their ideas through poster presentations. The student of S. Diaspora Theory This ethno-political/spatial turn in the study of diasporas makes the translation of socio-political identity (to the international community, to home, to their newer generations and to the host community) a central focus for the study of diasporas (Demir 2015).
