Best Practice:

Being Proactive – Physiological and Psychological Approach during Covid-19.

The institution adopted set of innovative & productive practices to engage student community in academic as well as for their well being and mental health during COVID 19 pandemic period. All the departments have prepared attractive and information posters and videos for COVID 19 which we shared through the student's whatsapp group to create awareness. During working days, the institution provided Hand sanitizer, Hand wash, Mask & more safety materials for community to staff and students for free. As part of its social responsibility it is also distributed to some local areas by our students. The institution conducted awareness programs regarding COVID 19 pandemic. As one part of these activities, some of our institution was undertaken by the government for used as Quarantine centre during the pandemic period. Our Students have put in maximum efforts to help community to fight against COVID 19 and to work for the betterment of society by the encouragement of the staff. This activity helps students to improve their social skills or emotional learning by processing their daily activities through a virtual interaction and also motivate and develop the habitat for humanity.
